VISITING LECTURERS

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute, whose Women's Studies program has long included courses like Women of Color, South Asian Women, Black Women's Culture, and First Nations Women, offered a new course, Feminism, Race, and Racism, reflecting increased attention to racial issues. Sunera Thobani's International Women's Day visit and Trey Anthony's guest lecture contributed to the inauguration of this course by helping us think together about race in the Canadian and international contexts

Sunera Thobani

Imperial Longings, Feminist Responses: Recasting Canadian Nationhood After 9/11.

Monday, March 7th, at Concordia's Samuel Bronfman Building, 1590 Dr. Penfield.

Controversial feminist professor Sunera Thobani was the Simone de Beauvoir Institute's guest speaker for International Women's Day this year. Thobani, Assistant Professor of Women's Studies at the University of British Columbia, is committed to building an anti-racist women's movement in Canada. As the first woman of color to head the National Action Committee on the Status of Women, she devoted her time in office to raising awareness of racial issues as they affect women.

Her visibility increased because of a speech she made in the wake of the September 11th attacks on U.S. targets. Rejecting the claim that "we are all Americans now," Thobani called for recognition of 9/11 in the context of U.S. policy and actions around the world. In that polarized moment, her remarks aroused intense political passions – from supporters and opponents alike.

Trey Anthony

"When I Dare to be Powerful...Looking Fear in 'Da Eye"

March 21, 2005, 7:00 p.m. Atrium, Samuel Bronfman Building 1590 Dr. Penfield.

Trey Anthony, queer black feminist/actor/comedian/playwright spoke about her personal experience of trying to combat the fears of not being good enough, worthy enough, and how her fears prevented her from being who she could be. Her talk focused on how writing her play 'da kink in my hair allowed her to come out as a queer artist and become a social activist who combats homophobia, racism, and sexism.

Anthony, who is also the host and executive producer of the popular comedy festival 'dat girl sho is funny, read and presented clips from her play, 'da kink in my hair. The play, in which she also stars, began as a Fringe Festival performance and enjoyed an extended run at Toronto's Princess of Wales Theatre, one of the largest venues in Canada. She took one night off to share her experience and her work with the Montréal audience.

INSTITUTE EVENTS

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute and the Holocaust Memory Series run by Montreal's Holocaust Museum hosted:

Karin Doerr
Rethinking Women and The Holocaust

October 20, 2004.
The Simone de Beauvoir Institute.
2170 Bishop, Room, MU-101. 7pm.

Professor Karin Doerr of Concordia University provided an overview of recent studies done on Women and the Holocaust. She highlighted themes in this new research area and suggested future trends.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute and publishers Price-Patterson Ltd. co-sponsored the launch of:

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute is proud to invite you to the launch of:

Not Just Any Dress: Narratives Of Memory, Body And Identity
Edited by Sandra Weber and Claudia Mitchell

Thursday, November 18, 2004.
Simone de Beauvoir Institute
2170 Bishop. Room 101

Not Just Any Dress is a highly original collection that draws together a number of compelling "dress stories" — poems, narratives, photographs, and essays by a variety of talented writers in which dress becomes the organizing feature for looking at body and identity in girls' and women's lives, as the authors discuss how we love dresses, hate them, covet them, refuse to wear, keep, remember or even burn them!

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute proudly hosted an Afternoon Tea in Honor of the

Retirement of our Documentalist-Extraordinaire
Carol Mitchell.

Friday February 4th, 2005.
Simone de Beauvoir Institute.
2170 Bishop, Room 203. 3:30pm

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute, The People's Potato and NEFAC hosted:

Ashanti Alston
Counter-Power: The Black Panther Party Experience

Tuesday February 15th, 2005.
B building, 1590 Docteur Penfeild Ave.

This lecture addressed the History of the Black Panthers, Racism in the USA and class struggle, Nationalism, feminism and black power.

Ashanti Alston is currently the Northeast regional coordinator for Critical Resistance, is a former member of both the Black Panther Party and Black Liberation Army, and was a political prisoner for over 12 years.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute and The 4th annual Festival Voix d'Amériques Co-hosted:

Sheri-D Wilson.
Women's Creativity Workshop

February 16, 2005.
Simone de Beauvoir Institute
2170 Bishop, Room 101.

This event was dedicated to spoken word and performance literature. It was recorded by the CBC.

The workshop created an atmosphere that allowed the mind to open to the possibilities of imagination. The instructor employed techniques designed to inspire the participants to write freely and to present their words in the medium best suited to support their voices.

Writing Workshops

Working under a General Education Teaching Assistantship, Candis Steenbergen and Robyn Diner, designed and taught writing workshops for students taking Introduction to Women's Studies I and II. They offered 5 different workshops offered during the first month of each term. Candis and Robyn also provided writing, essay organization, outline, editing and research assistant information on a one-on-one basis throughout the term. The Institute was provided with a teaching assistantship to fund the workshops.

Many students sought out further assistance from Candis and Robyn. Many students were thankful for the guidance and felt more prepared for the assignments they would complete that term (in women's studies and elsewhere). A version of the workshop handbook, "A 12-Step Guide to Research and Writing" has been published in an on-line journal (See Pp. 19 and 25).

HONORABLE MENTION:

After a 10 year dedication as Documentalist at the Simone de Beauvoir Institute, the infamous and most knowledgeable Carol Mitchell who was responsible for overseeing the smooth-running of the Simone de Beauvoir Documentation Centre retired at the end of 2004. A warm thank-you to Carol Mitchell for her hard work and kindness.

MISCELLANEOUS:

We have run out of shelf room for additional monographs and periodicals, many of which are now in boxes on the floor. It would be very helpful if we could use the rest of the fourth floor for our collection. This would entail removing and replacing one door. Security continues to patrol on a sporadic basis.
